Dr. David Griffin was the driver of the first engine to respond to the disastrous 2007 Sofa Super Store fire that claimed the lives of nine of his fellow firefighters. Plagued with survivor's guilt, he numbed himself with alcohol, painkillers, and blood sports so much so that it nearly cost him his life. Now, Griffin has completed a Doctorate of Education in organizational leadership and development, training organizations around the world on the importance of moving away from "the way we've always done it" mentality. He speaks openly about the Sofa Super Store fire and has helped with massive reforms in how firefighters are trained.

Griffin is currently a Captain with the Charleston Fire Department and is a certified Chief Training Officer (CTO) and Fire Officer (FO) through the Center for Public Safety Excellence (CPSE) and is currently completing the Executive Fire Officer Program at the National Fire Academy.
