

Resource Mapping for School Climate Sample Model Directions

Prevention Mitigation	Preparedness	Response	Recovery
--------------------------	--------------	----------	----------

Attached you will find a sample of a possible resource mapping model. It is based on a multi-tiered prevention and intervention framework utilizing tools from both PBIS and Working Smarter. Please feel free to adapt it in any way that might work for you. We do not assume that you will have programs in every category. We would welcome seeing any models that you use so that we can share them with other schools/districts.

This is a two step process.

1. Use the chart “Matrix for Resource Mapping” to list all the current programs and accompanying delivery information. You could choose as a safety team to look at:
  - a. All strategies and programs that you currently have to create a positive school climate and that provide violence prevention;
  - b. Each need/intervention priority separately (i.e. bullying, substance abuse, truancy, etc.) or
  - c. Those issues and strategies you are targeting for the new school year.
2. Use the triangle to then graph the programs in ascending order according to those universally provided across each grade level in your building through the targeted programs continuing on to those that are the most intensive strategies utilized with only a very small population of your students.

We hope this will help you to visualize where you might have redundancies and/or gaps as you plan for the next school year. We would be happy to consult with you on evidence-based programs which include measurable outcomes as you identify your next steps.

Again, whether you use this sample or another, please share your discoveries with us so that we may share your ideas with others.

Happy Planning!
